PCA National Upcoming Events:

Porscheplatz at the Hyundai SportsCar Challenge at Laguna Seca April 30th to May 1st

If you are planning on attending the Hyundai Sports Car Challenge at Laguna Seca on the Monterey Peninsula, PCA is looking for volunteers who can help at the hospitality tent. This event was moved from its traditional September date to the April/May date this year due to scheduling issues. Porsche Cars North America hosts the hospitality tent or Porscheplatz which is open to all PCA members as well as anyone driving a Porsche to the event. For more information on how you can volunteer to help contact Collin Fat at cfat1952@gmail.com.

Parade 2022 and 2023

For those planning on attending Parade 2022 at the Kalahari Resort in the Poconos, registration is open for Phase 1 registration. Phase 2 registration for event registration including competition events, banquets and tours opens on April 6th. Parade will be held June 12th to June 18th. For more information visit: <https://www.porscheparade.org/>

For those looking to participate in an upcoming Parade that is closer to home, Parade 2023 will return to the La Quinta Resort and Spa in Palm Springs. The dates are June 18-24, 2023. This event location was originally the site of the 2020 Parade which was cancelled because of the pandemic and that has been rescheduled for a return. This Parade being located in southern California will likely be very well attended.

Zone Autocross and Concours Series:

Golden Gate and Loma Prieta Regions held their first Zone Autocross events at Crows Landing just outside of Patterson, California in the Central Valley. Golden Gate hosted the event on Saturday while Loma Prieta Region hosted the event on Sunday. I was not able to attend the Saturday event but was able to attend the Sunday event where Loma Prieta Region autocross chair, David Dunwoodie and his team revised the course from Saturday and had 60 drivers competing for year end awards. Top time of day went to Drew Powers with a time of 56.662 followed by Monty Pack, Praneil Prasad, Todd Winstanley, Himanshu Patel and David Dunwoodie. Top time of day for the ladies in the competition went to Connie Lu who had a time of 59.169 and finished in the top ten overall. The weather was fabulous with clear skies and mild temperatures. If you have not been able to attend an event at Crow's Landing, it should be on your bucket list.

Zone 7 Concours Series:

The Zone 7 Concours series calendar has been finalized with a concours school to be held in several regions throughout Zone 7. A classroom session to review rules and how to prepare your Porsche to compete will be held on April 10th via Zoom while 4 hands on sessions will be held at Redwood City Porsche, Hi Tech Automotive in Petaluma, Steven's Creek Porsche in Santa Clara, and in the Sacramento area. Cost to participate is $15 per person with registration now open at the following link: <https://www.motorsportreg.com/events/zone-7-concours-clinic-judging-school-zoom-meeting-pca-702465>. There are already 44 persons registered for the event with room currently at the four hands on classes. It is a great opportunity to learn how your car is judged, to become a concours judge, or just to learn how to prepare your car for its first concours

HOW TO TELL A PORSCHE FROM A PORCH, by Russell Merriam
(Reprint from the Nor'Easter)

Many people are under the misconception that I own a porch. I am not sure why, since my house doesn't include that particular advantage. It's possible that those people have heard me discussing my car and have made an incorrect assumption. In that case, what follows here is an attempt to delineate the differences as I understand them, so that the discriminating Porscheophile will be able to ascertain which is which:

The word: Porsche is pronounced "por-sha" whereas porch is pronounced "porch," except by Lawrence Welk.

The meaning: A Porsche is an automobile, whereas a porch is an addendum to a house. One sits on a porch. Many porch owners sit on a porch, gazing at their Porsche. Very few Porsche owners sit in their Porsche, gazing at their porch. In reality, many Porsche owners can no longer afford a porch.

Materials: A Porsche is built of steel, aluminum, glass, rubber, blood, plastic, cloth, paint, rust, and (if you have a speedster) water. A porch is built of wood, masonry, glass and paint. The glass and paint are usually not interchangeable.

Seats: Porsches have two real seats and (sometimes) two others. Porches may have one, or many more. To face in a different direction on a porch, turn your seat; to do the same in a Porsche, turn the wheel. Usually, both types of seats are comfortable. The 914 provides the exception to the rule. Few, if any, Porsche seats can be found in wicker.

Builder: A Porsche is built by men who curse in German. Most local porches are built by men who curse in English.

Gas Consumption: The Porsche uses gas sparingly, as does the porch. An advantage of the porch is that the gas is usually brought to you, whereas a Porsche must be taken to it.

Speed: Porsches go extremely fast (except for the 914 and 924). Porches, on the other hand, accelerate like a Chevette.

Magazines: Porsche owners subscribe to PANORAMA, Car and Driver, Forbes, Newsweek, and the Journal of Overcharging Dentists. Porch owners subscribe to House Beautiful, Better Homes & Gardens, Yankee, and the Sears Roebuck Catalogue.

Fun: Porsche owners go to monthly meetings, rallies, autocrosses, track events, swap meets, ice races and dinners. Porch owners mow their lawn, trim their hedges, weed their gardens, and paint their fences. People who own both are characterized by dirty cars and overgrown lawns.
