PCA National Event Updates:

With the CDC recently announcing that if you have been vaccinated, you no longer are required to wear a mask indoors or outdoors, confusion has arisen. Many states have adopted the new CDC recommendation while California is reviewing its current restrictions. For the time being, PCA encourages all regions to follow their state and local guidelines regarding the wearing of masks. For Zone 7 regions and counties, masks are still required indoors. Please ensure that your members comply until further guidance is issued by your county or the state.

Werks Reunion Monterey is on schedule for August 13th with registration opening on June 23rd. Due to Covid concerns and the safety of our members and all spectators, all participants must register prior to the event. There will be no walk-in spectators allowed. Also being held will be the Porsche Corral and Hospitality tent at the Monterey Historic Races at Laguna Seca on the weekend, August 14-15th. Volunteers are needed. Please send me an email if you are interested. You must have event tickets to volunteer.

Treffen Scottsdale was held over 4 days at the fabulous JW Marriott Hotel and Resort. There were 147 cars in attendance with some 280 in attendance. The volunteers of the Arizona region did a masterful job of planning and executing on some wonderful tours of the region and included 1) Sedona, 2) The Wrigley Home, 3) Distilleries, 4) Prescott and other spectacular sights in the Sonoran desert. At the farewell banquet, Treffen chair Harry Season was thanked for his years of service in chairing the event by PCA executive vice president Cindy Jacisin. Harry introduced his successor, Alex Ching who will be leading the next Fall Treffen at The American Club from October 13th to 17th in Milwaukee, WI. Registration opens on August 4th and is sure to be another sellout.

Zone 7 Concours Series Updates:

Roy Schauben and Simone Kopitzki held their Phase 1 concours training session on May 16th via Zoom. There were 54 students in attendance for the detailed presentation which covered 1) what is concours, 2) Zone 7 categories and divisions, 3) guidelines for judging, 4) guidelines for participants, 5) guidelines for preparation, and 6) a review of the scoring procedure. The dates below are for the Phase 2 hands on training. You must have completed Phase 1 training in order to participate in the Phase 2 training.

Due to the popularity of this school, an additional one-day in person school has been scheduled in cooperation with the Sacramento Valley Region on June 27th at a private residence in the area. Registration is limited to 20 students. You can register at: <https://www.motorsportreg.com/events/zone-7-concours-clinic-judging-school-nelson-residence-pca-073413>

Current Covid protocols will be followed including social distancing and the wearing of face masks.

Zone 7 Autocross Series Calendar Update:

Loma Prieta and Golden Gate regions held regional autocrosses at the Cow Palace on May 15th and 16th under overcast and somewhat damp weather conditions as drivers prepare for the next Zone events being hosted on June 26th and June 27th by both regions and which will be held at the Cow Palace.

A Zone course design course is in the works and will be led by Larry Sharp. We hope to have a date set for July so stay tuned. This course is designed to teach the basics of course design and is more suited to experienced autocrossers. The course will be held virtually. If you are an experienced autocrosser and would like to learn the basics of course design, don't miss this event.

Redwood Region TSD Rally School and Rallies

Redwood Region PCA is presenting a time-speed-distance (TSD) rally school on Saturday June 26th at Sonoma State University in Rohnert Park. The event is free and open to all PCA members, from any region. Preregistration is required and will be limited to the first 50 applicants (25 cars). You will be required to pay a $7.00 per car parking fee at Sonoma State University.

A TSD rally is a team event; each car will require a driver and a navigator. The objective is to follow the prescribed route and arrive at each checkpoint exactly on time, with points deducted for both early and late arrival. The correct arrival time is based on the official miles of the official route and the assigned speeds along the route. The job of the navigator is to read the route instructions to the driver and to perform the necessary calculations to determine if they are on time, running early, or running late. This short video from the Rainier Auto Sports Club gives a good description of TSD rallies.

School begins at 10:00 with one hour of classroom demonstrations and discussion, followed by a one-hour practice rally. Both drivers and navigators should attend.

Because we will be driving on public roads at legal speeds, a TSD rally is suitable for any car. An SUV or sedan is just as likely to bring home a trophy as a sports car. The only equipment you will need is a working odometer, clock and calculator (smartphone) and clipboard, pen or pencil. The video shows some sophisticated rally equipment, but none will be required or necessary for the planned, entry-level events.

Preregistration and completed online wellness screen are required prior to attendance. A link to the screen and parking instructions will be emailed the week before school. Register at MSR at <https://www.msreg.com/RallySchool2021>

In addition to the rally school, Redwood Region has planned two TSD rallies. Die Trockenbach Rallye will be a four-hour event on Saturday, July 24th, starting in Windsor and finishing in Healdsburg. The Devil's Gulch rally will be a 6½ hour event on Saturday, August 28th, starting in Fairfax and finishing in Rohnert Park. Both rallies will be free and open to all PCA members or Porsche drivers. Awards will be presented to the top three finishers in each rally.

Fans of Ida Clayton Road will be disappointed; there are no dirt roads on either rally nor on the practice run.

Ladies in the Mist

Article by Carol Dixon

On Thursday, 13 May at 8:30 am, 7 dedicated Porsche ladies assembled at Philz Coffee in Corte Madera. We were hoping for a sunny, glorious Spring day but to our disappointment it was misty and overcast. However, nothing could deter our enthusiasm for a wonderful tour.

After a briefing from our leader Carolyn Wong, 5 cars headed west through Marin on a winding but beautiful road through a residential area. Once we hit Highway 1, we headed north and although we did not get lovely views of the Pacific Ocean, we rode through the forest and towering redwoods

Our route took us as far north as Tomales Bay where we then headed east through the grasslands. We were thrilled to have sunlight during this portion of the tour. Our three-hour tour then completed the loop back to Corte Madera.

We welcomed two new Diablo members on the tour—Alice and Jodi.

Our Diablo tour attendees were Carolyn and Michelle, Alice, Jodi, Pam, Susie and I.

We were thrilled to arrive at Restoration Hardware's rooftop glass ceiling restaurant. The view was spectacular, and the ambiance was classy. We enjoyed lobster rolls, salmon, and salads prepared to perfection.

After a year of Covid and being shut in, it was delightful to gather in a group and enjoy each other's company. For dessert we enjoyed some freshly baked delicious chocolate chip cookies. To our surprise our bill was completely paid for by Terry from Livermore Porsche. Needless to say, we were all enchanted by a fabulous tour, wonderful company and a special gift from Terry.

Should We Rally?

Article by Jim Robison (Redwood Region PCA)

That's a good question, but before we can answer it, we need to ask ourselves another question. What kind of rally are we talking about?

Unlike a tour, a car rally is a competitive driving event. But unlike a race or autocross, rallies require a team of a driver and a navigator (sometimes called a co-driver). Also, rallies are conducted on public roads rather than specifically designed race tracks.

In general, there are three types of rallies: gimmick, time-speed-distance (TSD), and stage.

Gimmick rallies have no assigned speeds and contestants are allowed more than adequate time to complete the route. The Social Distancing Rally the Redwood Region held in July and August last year was a gimmick rally. You could take as long as you wanted to find the markers. But unlike most gimmick rallies, there were no "traps" on the Social Distancing Rally.

A typical trap on a gimmick rally might be a route instruction saying "Right second opportunity" but if the general instructions say not to use freeways, then a freeway onramp does not count as a legitimate opportunity. Keep driving; keep counting.

The Porsche Club of America (PCA) calls gimmick rallies fun rallies. "Part of the challenge with a fun rally is to discover the intended route, which may require other skills such as solving a puzzle or looking for obscure reference points."

The Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) calls gimmick rallies GTA rallies, for their "Game, Tour and Adventure" elements.

Time-speed-distance, TSD, rallies are broken into legs, with a start time, route instructions, assigned average speeds, and a finish checkpoint for each leg. The object is to arrive at each checkpoint at exactly the prescribed time, with penalty points for early or late arrival, either in seconds or hundredths of a minute. There is a bit of math involved in running a TSD rally ($\text{time} = \text{distance} / \text{speed}$) and that's the duty of the navigator. The navigator is not a passenger, the navigator is the captain of the team; they tell the driver where to go and what to do. In my opinion, developing great driver/navigator teamwork is the most rewarding aspect of running a TSD rally.

The TSD route may be clearly defined, including the mileage to each route instruction, or it may include intentional traps that could cause the participants to take the wrong route and arrive at the checkpoint at the wrong time.

Some PCA regions offer TSD and gimmick rallies, though COVID put the damper on most 2020 events. Unfortunately, none of these rally Regions are in our neighborhood.

Stage rallies are somewhat like off-road races. They usually consist of alternating transits and stages. The transits are on public roads and contestants must adhere to traffic laws. Stages are closed sections, often on dirt, with the objective of getting from the start to the finish of each stage in the shortest amount of time. More like an autocross than a road race, cars compete against the clock, with usually a minute or two between each cars' start time. Stage rally cars are heavily modified for speed, safety, and endurance, but they must still be licensed and street legal. A full roll cage, fireproof suits, and helmets with HANS devices are all required.

The World Rally Championship consists of a series of stage rallies.

SCCA no longer sanctions Pro Rallies but Rally America, NASA Rally Sport and American Rally Association still do. A few Porsches run stage rallies in the US, but four-wheel drive, turbocharged Subarus (Subari?) tend to dominate the winner's podium.

The Mendocino Rally, which I organized from 2011 to 2015, was a stage rally.

A couple Mendocino Rally videos show the view from inside a rally car and from the spectator area.

So, should Zone 7 PCA region conduct rallies?

First, let's rule-out stage rallies. Most of us don't want to subject our Porsches to that kind of punishment. We could organize a stage rally, but I can tell you from experience with the Mendocino Rally, it takes a lot of time and work.

That leaves TSD and gimmick rallies, which are both suitable for Porsches, new or old, two doors or four. No special car preparation is required for a TSD rally, and your "equipment" can be as simple as a smartphone or pocket calculator and a clipboard, assuming your stock odometer and clock are in working order.

As an organizer, and as a contestant, I prefer a TSD with a well-defined route and no traps, but many people enjoy gimmick rallies. If gimmick rallies are your thing, I would encourage you to organize one.

The Redwood Region is planning to offer a TSD rally school (including a practice 1-leg rally) and two TSD rallies once COVID social distancing requirements are lifted. To get people interested, all three events will be free. They will be open to all PCA members and/or Porsche drivers, from any Region. If sufficient entries come from different Regions, the "Best Regional Team" award will be recognized. If the 2021 events are successful, we will offer more TSD rallies in the future.

I invite all PCA members to participate in our 2021 rally events. Watch this space for dates and details.

I would also like to coordinate with other Zone 7 Regions to offer a series of TSD rallies in 2022. Perhaps a different Region hosting a rally each month, creating a Zone 7 Rally Series, complete with an annual championship and an awards banquet.

If you are interested, please contact me at jim_robison@comcast.net.
